Radinguette et radingot

Pour soupai ils aeurent des preunes
Entre quatre ils n'aeurent que yeune
Et la quervaie d'en escargot
Radinguette et radingot
Et la quervaie d'en escargot
Radinguette et radingot

Ils firent faire enne couachette
De deux secs buts d'bûchette
Et l'oriller d'aen fagot
Radinguette et radingot
Et l'oriller d'aen fagot
Radinguette et radingot

Ils firent faire des courtines
Creyant que ch'tait d'la mousseline
Mais ch'tait du calico
Radinguette et radingot
Mais ch'tait du calico
Radinguette et radingo

John fat John (nick name for a yokel)

John fat John married his child
Big and plump and well endowed
To a Merchant of Sabots (Clogs)
Radinguette and radingot

For their lunch they served them peas
Between four were but three
Ah! imagine that was lots
Radinguette and radingot

For supper they served some prunes
Between four they had but one
The insides/burst of a snails
Radinguette and radingot

They made a cosy bed
With two sacks and logs of wood
And a pillow of faggots
Radinguette and radingot

Then they made some new curtains
Thinking that it was muslin
But it was some calico
Radinguette and radingot
